Pre-AP courses focus deeply on a limited number of concepts and skills with the broadest relevance for high school coursework and college and career success. The course framework serves as the foundation of the course and defines these prioritized concepts and skills.

When teaching a Pre-AP course, teachers have purposeful time and space to bring their own voice and lessons into each unit to best meet the needs of their students and address the full range of state standards. This alignment summary demonstrates the deep connections between the Pre-AP English High School Course Framework and the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating to support teachers and schools in their planning. Along with the corresponding standards crosswalk, teachers and schools can use this alignment summary when planning and preparing to implement Pre-AP English 2.

Alignment at a Glance: Very Strong

CO Reading, Writing, and Communicating Standards:

- Oral Expression and Listening
- Reading for All Purposes
- Writing and Composition
- Research Inquiry and Design

Discipline Highlights

- Overall, the alignment between the Pre-AP English High School Course Framework and the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating is very strong.

- Across the four strands of the Colorado Reading, Writing, and Communicating Standards, the majority of standards are fully addressed by the Pre-AP framework.

- All standards from the Research Inquiry and Design strand are covered in full by the Pre-AP framework.

- All standards in the strands Oral Expression and Listening, Reading for All Purposes, and Writing and Composition are covered in full or in part by the Pre-AP framework.

Alignment between the Pre-AP English High School Course Framework and the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating is described as very strong or partial. A very strong alignment is one in which the majority of standards are fully addressed by the mapped Pre-AP Learning Objectives (LOs). A partial alignment is one in which the standards are partially addressed by the corresponding Pre-AP Learning Objectives. Partial alignment can occur when one framework includes greater specificity or extends beyond the scope of the other framework. Given the focused nature of the Pre-AP course framework, some partial alignments are to be expected.
Alignment at a Glance: Partial

Discipline Highlights

While the overall alignment between the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating and the Pre-AP English High School Course Framework is very strong, there are a few areas of partial alignment due to the more granular nature of some of the Colorado standards.

There are few partial alignments, and most are focused on discrete skills such as attending to spelling and setting rules for peer discussions. The Pre-AP framework includes opportunities to address these discrete skills within broader learning objectives such as LO 3.3A, “Compose or revise language to ensure sentences are grammatically correct and that their internal structures provide clarity,” and LO 5.1A, “Extend the conversation around an idea, topic, or text by formulating questions and recognizing the claims and perspectives of others.”

Colorado’s standards at times include more granular statements than the Pre-AP learning objectives and essential knowledge statements. For example, Colorado standard RW.H1.1.1.c, which requires students to identify “fallacious reasoning or exaggerated or distorted evidence” when evaluating a speaker’s reasoning and evidence, is more broadly stated in Pre-AP LO 5.1B, “Cite relevant evidence and evaluate the evidence presented by others.”

Summary

Beyond alignments to the course framework, it is also important for educators to turn to the Pre-AP Shared Principles and Pre-AP English Areas of Focus to understand the full picture of alignment between Pre-AP English 2 and the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating. The shared principles and areas of focus represent the Pre-AP approach to teaching and learning, and these principles deeply address skill development and disciplinary practices that cannot be easily captured within a standards crosswalk. In summary, there are ample opportunities for teachers to address the Colorado Academic Standards in Reading, Writing, and Communicating with confidence throughout this course.
