Pre-AP English 1 Planning Guide: Using SpringBoard

Using this Guide

The purpose of this guide is to provide guidance and suggestions for using SpringBoard in parallel with Pre-AP model lessons and assessments. Unit overviews highlight shared content between SpringBoard and Pre-AP, suggest which Pre-AP learning checkpoints to use, and recommend specific SpringBoard content.

As indicated by the course map (pg. 18-19 in Pre-AP Teacher Resource), Pre-AP units include optional model lessons that address a portion of the Pre-AP course instructional time. Course planning includes combining model lessons and additional lessons designed by the teacher using available curricular resources. Schools that select SpringBoard as a primary resource have access to SpringBoard English 1 lessons and corresponding student materials that follow the Pre-AP unit structure for the full instructional year.

The first group of lessons in each SpringBoard unit share the same texts and overall lesson flow as the Pre-AP model lessons, though the Pre-AP model lessons found in Pre-AP Classroom may contain additional teacher support, and the SpringBoard lessons include additional student resources.

These overlaps and differences are noted in this guide. SpringBoard lessons suggested following Learning Cycle 3 of the Pre-AP model lessons serve to continue and extend the learning while maintaining the unit goals and preparing students for the Pre-AP performance task.

Unit and Lesson Overviews

Unit Overview: Unit overviews outline the big picture of the unit goals, learning objectives, assessment opportunities, and standards addressed. There is space for you to articulate any additional goals, essential questions, or key concepts and skills for the unit.

Lesson Overviews: Lesson overviews provide an instructional grid for each unit showing the instructional resources, assessments, and differentiation and practice options from both Pre-AP and SpringBoard. Since the Pre-AP lessons do not comprise a full day-by-day curriculum for the entire year, the overviews show Learning Cycles 1-3 and corresponding assessments from the Pre-AP model lessons and how the SpringBoard curriculum can be used in parallel with them.
Unit 1: Telling Details

Unit Overview

Opening Lessons (Pre-AP Lessons 1.1–1.14 OR SpringBoard Activities 1.2–1.15)
During the first three weeks of this unit, students read short fiction and visual texts and learn to go beyond the superficial identification of plot moves as they attempt to solve the mystery of how authors employ their craft. Students also learn to compose analytical sentences and paragraphs that capture the telling details discovered through close observation as well as the connections between the discrete elements of a work and the overall effect those elements achieve.

Continuing Suggested Lessons (SpringBoard Activities 1.16–1.21, Embedded Assessment 1)
Students deepen their study of telling details and strengthen their literary analysis and writing skills through targeted SpringBoard activities. Students come to understand the effects of unique stylistic choices made by authors, and then start to make thematic connections among genres and texts. Students gather textual evidence and generate commentary in order to plan and compose multi-paragraph responses to literature.

Key Concepts and Skills:
- Critical reading of short stories and visual texts
- The writing process
- Analytical writing
- Meaning of words in context
- Precise language
- Conventions of standard English
- Text-based conversations
- Additional key concepts and skills as determined by the teacher

Unit 2: Pivotal Words and Phrases

Unit Overview:

Opening Lessons (Pre-AP Lessons 2.1–2.12 OR SpringBoard Activities 2.2–2.10)
During the first weeks of this unit, students focus on the meaning and impact of pivotal words and phrases as they explore the work of poets, performers, and dramatists. By exploring found poetry, a poet’s multiple drafts of a single poem, and a few narrative poems, students gain an appreciation for the significance of word choice and revision. Students will also gain firsthand knowledge of how dramatic performance can heighten the effects of wordplay as they act out Shakespearean dialogues. Writing is continuously woven throughout Unit 2, as students craft found poems, write critical reviews, and draft multiparagraph works of literary analysis.

Continuing Suggested Lessons (Selected SpringBoard Activities from 2.11 to 2.25, Embedded Assessment 1)
Students deepen their study of pivotal words and phrases as they read Romeo and Juliet and prepare a dramatic interpretation. Studying Romeo and Juliet provides students with diverse opportunities to hear and speak Shakespeare's language, view filmed interpretations, and collaboratively interpret scenes. Students gain a deeper understanding of and appreciation for Shakespeare’s works and enhanced their ability to read a challenging text by analyzing the text in preparation for a collaborative performance. SpringBoard Unit 2 includes instruction designed to read Romeo and Juliet in its entirety and allow for performance of key scenes to deepen learning in this unit.

Key Concepts and Skills:
- Critical reading of poetry and drama
- Analysis of authors’ language choices
- The writing process
- Analytical writing
- Meanings of words in context
- Using precise language
- Oral presentations and performances
- Conventions of standard English
- Collaborative conversations
- Additional key concepts and skills as determined by the teacher

Unit 3: Compelling Evidence

Unit Overview:

Opening Lessons (Pre-AP Lessons 3.1–3.10 OR SpringBoard Activities 3.2–3.11)
Beginning with personal essays and ending with arguments that use anecdotal and quantitate evidence to support their claims, in the first three weeks of this unit students read a variety of texts that address the value of work for teenagers. In response to these texts, students have opportunities to write an original argument followed by an analytical essay on one of the arguments studied in class. Throughout the unit, there is an emphasis on distinguishing between what writers are claiming in their arguments and what they are doing as writers. Practice in making those distinctions prepares students for the culminating analytical task.

Continuing Suggested Lessons (SpringBoard Activities 3.12–3.23, Embedded Assessments 1 and 2)
Students deepen their study of compelling evidence and argumentative writing skills through targeted SpringBoard activities for the remainder of the unit. The activities selected maintain a focus on the Pre-AP Big Ideas and Learning Objectives while also preparing students for both SpringBoard Embedded Assessments. The work from Springboard Unit 3 provides opportunities for research as well as a foundation for the work to be completed in the following unit.

Key Concepts and Skills:
- Critical reading and analysis of essays and arguments
- Evaluating evidence
- The writing process
- Planning and writing an analytical essay
- Meanings of words in context
- Using precise language
- Conventions of standard English
- Collaborative conversations
- Additional key concepts and skills as determined by the teacher

Assessment Types

Pre-AP Learning Checkpoints
These short, multiple-choice formative assessments ask students to demonstrate their classroom learning with texts not previously encountered. They are automatically scored in Pre-AP Classroom with reporting to provide insight and inform instructional planning decisions.

At least one learning checkpoint is required as part of Pre-AP Course Audit. We have suggested Learning Checkpoint 2 at the end of this unit.

SpringBoard Embedded Assessments
These performance-based assessments are scaffolded within each SpringBoard unit. They often support the skills needed for the performance task or other elements of the Pre-AP Framework.

Unit 3 Embedded Assessment 1: Writing an Argumentative Essay
Unit 3 Embedded Assessment 2: Researching and Presenting a Career

Pre-AP Performance Tasks
These performance-based assessments ask students to write an analysis of a text not explicitly taught in class. They can be administered on paper or in Pre-AP Classroom.

Unit 3 Performance Task: Analyzing an Argument Timing is suggested prior to the SpringBoard EAs.

Unit 4: Powerful Openings

Unit Overview:

Opening Lessons (Pre-AP Lessons 4.1–4.15 OR SpringBoard Activities 4.2–4.13)
In the first weeks of this final unit, students encounter the openings of several novels and gain an appreciation for the captivating ways writers lure their readers in, one line at a time. Earlier in the year, students became attuned to interpreting telling details and pivotal words and phrases in the context of multiple literary genres; in this unit, they will apply those same lessons as they explore how novelists introduce settings and characters through a variety of unique narrative voices.

Continuing Suggested Lessons (SpringBoard Activities 4.14–4.28)
Students deepen their work with a novel by reading To Kill a Mockingbird and completing the corresponding SpringBoard activities. Their work culminates in the Pre-AP Performance Task: Writing a Literary Analysis, providing the space and time to apply all the lessons and skills they have learned throughout the year. They will analyze how telling details, captivating language, and pivotal words and phrases come together to create a compelling narrative.

Key Concepts and Skills:
- Critical reading and analysis of literary texts
- The writing process
- Analytical writing
- Meanings of words in context
- Precise language
- Conventions of standard English
- Text-based conversations
- Additional key concepts and skills as determined by the teacher

Assessment Types

Pre-AP Learning Checkpoints
These short, multiple-choice formative assessments ask students to demonstrate their classroom learning with texts not previously encountered. They are automatically scored in Pre-AP Classroom with reporting to provide insight and inform instructional planning decisions.

SpringBoard Embedded Assessments
These performance-based assessments are scaffolded within each SpringBoard unit. They often support the skills needed for the performance task or other elements of the Pre-AP Framework.

Pre-AP Performance Tasks
These performance-based assessments ask students to write an analysis of a text not explicitly taught in class. They can be administered on paper or in Pre-AP Classroom.

Suggested Assessments
- At least one learning checkpoint is required as part of Pre-AP Course Audit. We have suggested Learning Checkpoint 1.
- This pathway includes several of the novel openings from the Pre-AP model lessons. Based on your pacing, you may selectively choose which novel opening activities to use and allow more time for reading the full novel, doing the research activities at the end of the unit, or completing Embedded Assessments.
- Unit 4 Performance Task: Writing a Literary Analysis Essay
  Timing is suggested at the close of the unit.
